Reference: Rising Star Endorsement for Mr Eric Jiang

Over the past few years, eSolutions has been building the innovation culture and strengthening our student engagement program. It was in this journey that eSolutions discovered the young and very talented Eric Jiang.

Eric founded the MonPlan project as an open source prototype while being an undergraduate student. The prototype was pitched to Monash University in December 2016. As a result, Eric was invited to develop the idea into an enterprise solution. He was the hands-on Tech Lead and Backend Software Developer of the team.

As his supervisor, I observed Eric's exceptional professionalism, organisational and project management skills. His proactive engagement with the wider Monash community has been outstanding; all of which contributed to the strength and success of the project.

In addition to his technical and project management skills, he has great initiative that extends into the recruitment of his own team. Eric successfully recruited very skilled undergraduates that complements the team well, building a strong team culture. The project could not be what it is today without his persistence, hard work and determination.

I strongly endorse Eric Jiang for the Rising Star award nomination.

Yours sincerely,

Chau Lam
